

Shower Tunes with Kohler

Written by Marco Attard
20. 11. 2012

Customers wanting to listen to their music under the shower now have a solution from Kohler-- Moxie, a shower nozzle with a detachable wireless speaker.

The speaker attaches to the shower head via magnet, and should be easily removable when it is time for charging up. Wireless connectivity comes through Bluetooth technology, while a USB port takes care of charging.

Kohler promises a single charge powers up to 7 hours of music. When detached the speaker is also usable as a regular standalone wireless speaker.

The shower head is apparently also rather decent-- it has 60 angled nozzles and delivers either 2.0 or 2.5gpm of spray. A silicone sprayface allows for easy cleaning free of mineral buildup.

Go Kohler Moxie