Origin Acoustics adds three floor-standing powered subwoofers to the Performance Subwoofer range, all featuring coated paper woofers, high-powered digital amplifiers and lightly textured and brushed finished.

According the company, the subwoofers deliver more volume and lower frequencies from a smaller cabinet complete with a more attractive aesthetic. The collection also benefits from an additional down-firing passive radiator providing extended bass frequencies and volume with no extra power consumption. All models feature a premium grain finish, the result of a hybrid wrap with a tactile finish making them suitable for display.

Available in 8-, 10- and 12-inch configurations, the subwoofers ship in March 2020.
