Savant announces an enhancement of its partnership with Netgear to offer the full suite of Netgear networking solutions to installers, providing them with best-in-class products and services for any size job.

As audio/video, lighting and IP come together along with a limitless array of IoT devices in the modern home, the role of networking becomes more vital than ever before. The alliance between Savant and Netgear aims to create networking solutions optimised for the Savant smart home ecosystem, streamlining design, installation and service processes for installers.

Additionally, the two products are working on a strategic roadmap of products and services exclusive top and optimised for Savant. The partnership provides installers with access to 24/7 system design and support services, increasing job site efficiency while ensuring client satisfaction. Savant and Netgear are also collaborating on their respective cloud-based management platforms (Savant SCM and Netgear Insight) to provide network monitoring and management capabilities.
