The Samsung Galaxy One Tablet Projector Concept is just a design concept at this point, but a convincing one at that (look at photos in link below).

It's a combination of three characteristics from three different devices. It has the mobility of tablets, the widescreen of desktops, and the power of a laptop.

It's 305x195x14 mm. Adding a back kick-stand and projector, the device gets additional presentation functionality by coming bundled with Windows 8.

Concept designers are Laura Hong and Charles de Belizal.
