

The Bather's Remote Control

Written by Marco Attard
05. 04. 2011

Customers with a penchant for watching TV while bathing can rest easy-- TileVision releases a waterproof universal remote.

It has an IP67 waterproof rating, allowing for use in areas described as "wet", (such as, well, baths). If dropped in said bath it will merrily float its way around, possibly to join one's rubber duckie and toy boat.

As a universal remote it also comes pre-programmed with over 2000 codes for TVs, satellite receivers, dvd players and vcr recorders, with 38 buttons in total. In total it can handle up to 3 devices (any TV + 2 AV sources).

Completing the package is a self-adhesive remote control holder.

Go TileVision Accessories