Séura starts shipping the 86-inch Storm Ultra Bright-- an outdoor display offering 950-nit brightness as well as Adaptive Picture Technology, a proprietary means to automatically adjust backlight, contrast and other image variables.

The 86-inch display features an aesthetic revamp, with a redesigned bezel and reflective edge. The Ultra Bright line is integrated with HDBaseT certification and internal IP control, together with readily accessible waterproof compartments with inputs, outputs and internal power outlet.

The company also has a soundbar to pair with the displays-- a weatherproof, 2-channel soundbar matching the TV length complete with powerful carbon fibre woofers and titanium tweeters.
