CEDIA announces the resignation of global president/CEO Vin Bruno. According to the organisation, Bruno resigned in order to "focus on new opportunities in the residential and commercial technology industries."

"On behalf of the Board, the CEDIA team and the global CEDIA community, I would like to extend my sincere thanks to Vin for his service and guidance during his tenure as CEO," CEDIA chairman Dennis Erskine says. "Under Vin's leadership, we have completed the goal of global alignment for the organization and sold ownership of the CEDIA show to focus on the most important needs of our members."

Bruno joined CEDIA in September 2015, following a role as marketing director at Crestron. Prior to that he was VP at VCOM International Multimedia, a distributor of professional AV and digital equipment.

The CEDIA board plans to create a strategy and timeline for the appointment of a new president/CEO over the next 2 weeks. Until then, COO Tabatha O'Connor takes over leadership duties.
