CEDIA opens sales of tickets for the 2019 EMEA Awards with an early bird discount until 31 July 2019. The event takes place on 26 September at the V&A in London.

Tickets for the black-tie event include a drinks reception in the Museum Dome complete with soaring ceiling, classical architecture, marble floors and a central glass sculpture. Following is a 3-course dinner and evening entertainment in the largest and most prestigious space in the museum, the Raphael Gallery, housing some of the most important surviving examples of Renaissance art in the world.

“With just three months left to go until the highly anticipated event, we don’t want anyone to miss out on the excitement this year,” CEDIA EMEA managing director Matt Nimmons says. “The V&A is an incredibly impressive venue, and a fitting place to commemorate the best home technology projects and innovative products from our industry. Those who attend the ceremony are guaranteed an unforgettable evening, and I look forward to celebrating together in September.”

The 2019 event counts ABB as headline sponsor, together with Bowers & Wilkins, Meridian Audio and Samsung as supporters.
