UK-based Habibtech signs a distribution deal with luxury home control system maker Vantage in a partnership allowing for closer integration between Vantage control and Nuvo whole home audio systems.

Vantage offers integrated automation solutions featuring a widget-based UI handling many aspects of the home, including lighting, home theatre, cameras and security. It also displays the current weather and allows for home climate changes.

The Vantage range currently features 3 displays-- the 4-inch Equinox 40 and 41, and the 7-inch Equinox 73-- as well as a selection of controllers, LED dimmers, line-voltage relay modules and DIN-rail lighting control relays/dimmer modules.

“Vantage provides a wonderful opportunity to add genuine kudos to our relationship with the developer market and strengthen our service and support for our existing valued customers,” Habibtech says. “It also complements our other automation lines beautifully and allows us to offer the most powerful range of applications for home control.”
