The Chord Company launches Clearway-- a replacement to the company's previous Carnival SilverScreen cable featuring advanced features within a high-performance speaker cable.

A refinement on recent Chord Company developments, Clearway Cable features 2 contra-wound high-density foil shields allowing for a shielding level effective to high frequencies. Meanwhile a clear protective PVC jacket reduces mechanically induced noise.

"The cable has qualities that would normally be associated with considerably more expensive cables," the company says. "The use of high-quality oxygen-free copper, FEP insulation and high-density foil shielding... Chord has tested the cable in all levels of systems and in every case, whether entry-level or high-end, the levels of clarity, detail, dynamics and critically, musical coherence, are really impressive."
